LICENSE BOARD MAKES NULL BOTTLE BILL

The effect of the hard-bottle bill, even if it is enacted by the legislature and approved by governor Dwyer, is nullified by the action of the licensing board in granting applications for 722 licenses, covering both dry and bottle privileges.

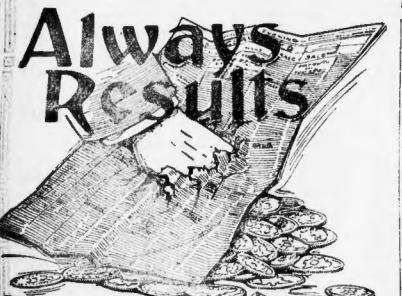

A number of additional licenses will be issued at the next meeting of the board, held on Tuesday, in which there were representatives in the line of application, including both the dry and bottle privileges.

The action of the board, in view of the fact that that action on the bill prohibits the granting of both a bar and bottle license for the same premises is believed to be only a day or two distant, is not a surprise. The members of the board have already decided to discuss their action and they are adhering to that plan.

It is known, however, that the board delayed action on the application until the latest possible day. The current license expires on May 1, and the new ones must be issued before then. It is said that the board makes a sharp distinction between the granting and bottle licenses, and that the dry license will not be granted until the board has decided on the bottle license. The board will apply only to "bottle" and cannot be granted a "dry" license.

Some of the licensees if it is said, are dissatisfied with the board's action. They say that they will not be able to pay for the license until the board has decided on the bottle license. The board will not be able to pay for the license until the board has decided on the bottle license.

MRS. SHAW WILL LET SENATOR GET DIVORCE

"Don't give judgment before the trial."

Amherst: Mrs. Nellie F. Shaw of her cross bill for divorce against Senator James F. Shaw, in which she withdrew the cause of a non-resident and submitted charges of cruelty, has given rise to the report that tomorrow morning will be the hearing of the bill is resumed at Salem. Mrs. Shaw will be allowed to sue her husband on a divorce without a contest. Mrs. Shaw will maintain her charge of improper conduct against the Senator, but will give up the cause, but not the divorce without a contest. Friends of Mrs. Shaw believe that if the Senator is allowed to sue his wife without a contest it will be the end of the long-drawn-out trial. It had been predicted that the case would take several weeks.

That Mrs. Shaw is willing that the bonds uniting her to Senator Shaw be dissolved has been known to her friends since her return from California, where she was discovered with Elmo Martin, the former chauffeur.

When Mrs. Shaw came to court for the hearing she did not look as though marital cares weighed heavily, for although she was heavily veiled she smiled brightly and spoke cheerily to several of her friends in and about the court room.

Mrs. Shaw wore a dark blue costume, made on military lines. In contrast to those somewhat somber costumes, she wore a white straw turban, trimmed with pink ostrich feathers.

Mrs. Shaw had hardly seated herself in the gallery when the wife's divorce bill was called for by the clerk.

Not once did Mrs. Shaw glance at the judge or the jury, but she looked at the judge and spoke with lips firmly closed.

It was some time before the bill was called for, but when it came up Attorney Anderson approached Mrs. Shaw with a gold pencil which she drew from her pocket.

Mrs. Shaw's desire to amend her bill, as stated Attorney Anderson, in a clear, strong voice, was heard by the court.

It seemed that the postponement was being made with some purpose, for Mrs. Shaw called at the court, holding the bill in her hand, and announced that the case would come up weekly morning.

ELIO BLAMES LIVING COST TO LABOR UNIONS

Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, who presided at the Massachusetts Reform Club dinner at Young's, delivered another of his lectures at the labor union, declaring that these joint agreements are largely responsible for the present high cost of living.

He said, however, that the enactment into law of the proposed industrial dispute act for Massachusetts would prove the most successful solution of the most difficult question now confronting modern society.

Concerning the building trades, he declared that there had been during the past fourteen years from thirty to fifty per cent. advance in the cost of building all structures, the result of agreement.

This fact, he said, had resulted in the building of the ordinary house receiving a salary of from $15 to $20 a week, being reduced at least one-half at the same price he paid for the larger space formerly.

Continuing his address of the proposed measure, he declared that settlement of industrial disputes as proposed would be a direct appeal to public opinion before combat and then industrial strife to international warfare, which, he said, had settled few questions in this world.

"Compulsory arbitration," he said, "is a method which simply leads to strike. In the first place, both parties greatly overstate their claims and then effect a compromise that is satisfactory to nobody. Then they strike again."

The only way to stop a strike, he said, is to make the employers afraid to strike. The only way to stop a strike, he said, is to make the employers afraid to strike.

The only way to stop a strike, he said, is to make the employers afraid to strike. The only way to stop a strike, he said, is to make the employers afraid to strike.

2036 Prescriptions IN ONE DAY

Last week we told you that we took pains to count up all the prescriptions prepared by us in one day at our 35 stores. The number totalled 2036.

A few days ago we asked the publisher of a leading drug journal what his estimate would be of the number of prescriptions prepared in one day by the average druggist in the United States. His reply was "About 5."

Now, let us discuss together the meaning of 2036 physicians' prescriptions in a single day. It interests us and should interest you and your physician.

¶ We buy 365 times as much, which means that we can buy cheaper, and our prices to you are much more reasonable.

¶ We sell 365 times as much; that proves that our stock is sold faster. Drugs do not stay on our shelves, and you get fresher, purer and more potent prescriptions.

¶ Putting up 365 prescriptions against the others' one, enables us to carry a much greater variety. We have about everything that modern medical science has produced. No waiting—prompt service.

Giving us your prescription business would mean to you economy, quality and promptness.

May we have YOUR prescription next time?

WE GIVE LEGAL TRADING STAMPS. ASK FOR THEM.
